Online Resume: www.dsteinberger.com

I am pleased to offer this cover letter to serve as an introduction, and to provide a brief insight to my goals, my work ethic, and my character. I am very interested in the position that you have posted on Indeed.com.

I am also very comfortable with long distance commuting as I have had to commute over long distance during the 15 years I lived in Alaska. My home was in Big Lake, Alaska while my work and 2nd home were in Anchorage, Alaska. I commuted on Monday morning the 70 miles to Anchorage and returned home on Friday evenings. With this, commuting over distance is not a challenge for me.

As a senior web designer, webmaster, and a seasoned professional, I bring a diverse set of skills and over 25 years of experience to the task of web design, development, and support. I routinely take ownership of projects and enjoy building collaborative relationships with team members and stakeholders.

My experience spans web design projects from domain creation to hosting, design staging, and publication. I am seeking a full-time opportunity to find a business I can call home as I have now settled after a long relocation from Alaska to Florida and ready to focus on work.

I believe my knowledge and experience have positioned me for successfully offering my services to organizations in search of team players willing to accept responsibilities that support strategic initiatives either in a long-term setting or, as a contract consultant.

To give you a little background on my experience... As a Senior Research Analyst and member of the President's staff at Georgia Tech in 1989 I became the representative member of the Abilene Project Committee, made up of 142 research universities charged with developing and implementing a web of interlocking universities across the United States. The resulting "web" became the launching pad for the delivery of the World Wide Web now known as the Internet across the country. After a change of career path I moved forward with the purchase of one of the first domain names offered in the U.S. and this became the platform for my future business. I have owned and operated Blue Diamond Webs since 1994 as a web development company aimed at helping the small businessman to publish websites to the Internet at a cost within his budget. Over the last twenty five years I have worked as a web designer for Blue Diamond Webs while concurrently working as a webmaster at three different universities, Regis University in Denver, University of Colorado at Boulder, University of Alaska Anchorage, and more recently served as the Webmaster for the Alaska Native Tribal Health Consortium located in Anchorage. I have designed over 1,225 published commercial websites ranging from the family photo album to classified government sites for the Department of Energy with many of these sites ranging in size from one page to over 4,000 pages.

If you are seeking a person who stays abreast of the field, who understands technology, who earns 100% confidence through effective communications and reporting, and who is as career-committed as necessary to achieve total success, then please consider my offer.

I would be happy to have a preliminary discussion with you, or members of your staff, to see if we might establish an opportunity goal that will lead to a successful relationship.

I will be pleased to hear from you to answer any initial questions you may have. I thank you for your consideration, and for your interest in my resume. You may review my work examples and portfolio at the following URL:<http://dsteinberger.com> I also invite you to visit my custom web design site where you will be able to view more of my site designs at: <https://www.bluediamondwebs.com> I normally post between 60-70 of the most recent web designs within the portfolio page.

I certainly look forward to exploring opportunities you may have further.

Best Regards,
